But they refused to pay attention and turned a stubborn shoulder and stopped their ears that they might not hear. They made their hearts diamond-hard lest they should hear the law and the words that the LORD of hosts had sent by his Spirit through the former prophets. Therefore great anger came from the LORD of hosts.

(Zec 7:11-12)

Two times I have had people walk out in the middle of one of my sermons.

The first time it happened I was preaching by invitation at a congregation different than my own. The lesson touched on some basic sins and the correction for each, as found in scripture - Christianity 101.

As I departed the pulpit I immediately understood that something was wrong. Apparently during the sermon one of the members gathered up a couple of the elders and sequestered themselves to engage in a long conversation about the lesson and ramifications of the teaching that I had done. After a few moments they pulled me aside and began grilling me about the sermon. I simply told them, "I said nothing that you cannot readily find in the scripture." I then turned to the passage I had quoted during the lesson and simply repeated it. "That is a little harsh don't you think?" Growing weary of the situation I informed the men that they would just have to "take their issue up with God," since he wrote it.

The second time someone walked out of a lesson was more of a complaint about the "style" I had employed for a certain lesson. Yet, the style, which was more of what you might call "story telling" fit the lesson since we were focusing on some parables of Christ.

Aside from the obvious, there is one big difference between the two times the "walk out" occurred. Both, of course were rude and inappropriate. Both were presumptuous, not "hearing the end of a matter" before making judgment. However, the first I took to heart, while the latter (though regrettable) I did not.

Between those incidents I learned a valuable lesson. When people walk away from Bible preaching which they simply do not want to hear or don't like, or cannot peaceably disagree with in a biblically prescribed manner, then they are not walking out on the preacher, but on God. You see, the preacher is just a tool in God's toolbox.

When you walk out on either, you walk out on God. Do preachers make mistakes? Sure they do. Walking out on a sermon never solves it!

Israel did it over and over, especially during the period of the prophets. They didn't like what they had to say so they put their hands over their ears like a child and walked away. Never walk out on God folks! Never walk away from truth, no matter how it may hurt. Never walk out on God, lest He return the favor.

I Myself Am Going!

"Seek the LORD while He may be found; call on Him while He is near" (Isaiah 55:6).

Have you ever really wanted something? Wanted it so desperately that you were willing to spend whatever time, energy or resources it took to acquire it? Imagine seeking God in that manner.

Jesus likened the kingdom of heaven to a treasure hidden in a field or a pearl of great value – worth selling everything we own, in order to buy it. Zechariah prophesied that there will be a day when,

"[T]he inhabitants of one city will go to another and say, 'Let us go at once to entreat the LORD and seek the LORD Almighty. I myself am going'"

(Zechariah 8:21)

Of course, it's easier to be a follower than a leader; easier to wait for someone else to make the move to go against the flow of culture and risk everything in order to find eternal life. Yet when I read these words from Zechariah, I feel God calling me to be the first one to set out on this holy quest; the one that beseeches God for forgiveness and encourages others to do the same. I hear the call to be the one who humbly seeks

God's face, to know and be known by Him, and by example, urges others to drop whatever they're doing in order to discover His will.

I sense within my heart the need to say, "I myself am going to seek God, won't you come with me?"

Almighty God, thank you for the promise that I will find You when I seek You with all my heart (Jeremiah 29:13). Give me the courage and the strength to seek after You regardless of who goes before me or if anyone else follows. Amen.

Dear Visitor...

Welcome! It is hard for us to express in this small space just how blessed we feel by having you visit with us today. You will, no doubt, find that this small welcome address will be followed up by loving conversation with our members, as they introduce themselves and personally welcome you. We are a friendly group who cherish our time together and are always looking to adopt new folks into our family. We want you to feel welcomed and yet, we realize that visiting a church can be overwhelming.

You can expect us to not only make you feel at home and a part of what we do, but also find a willingness on our part to help you understand what we do and why we do it. Some things that are part of our worship may be different than what you are used to, just as some of the things you hear may be different than what you are used to. Rest assured, we welcome all your questions and will be more than happy to explain our reasoning and love for God. We do hope you have enjoyed being with us and come back again soon.

Edward Benesh, Minister
